Worldview Entertainment was an American motion picture financing company focused on theatrical-quality feature films for worldwide distribution. The company was founded in 1982 by Robert M. Weisberg and Richard D. Zanuck. The company's first film, Chocolat, was a commercial success, leading to a series of other films, which coincided with the infusion of $40 million in new equity from existing investors. The $70 million doubled the company's capital base.

The company went on to premiere two films at the 2013 Venice Film Festival, including David Gordon Green's drama Joe, which was sold domestically to Lionsgate and Roadside Attractions. Worldview also produced Angela's Ashes, which was distributed by Sony Pictures Classics. The company's last film, The Way, Way Back, was released in 2013.

Worldview Entertainment was acquired by the Weinstein Company in 2011.
